Built in 1910 and recently restored, this is a luxury farmhouse situated on 46 acres among the rolling hills adjacent to George Washington National Forest. This impeccably decorated historic home can easily accommodate ten to twelve guests, making it ideal for large families or a multiple-couple getaway. Secluded, yet in proximity to many area attractions, it is only 20-25 minutes from the Homestead, the Old Diary complex and the Garth Newel Music Center. For avid anglers, the home is a short fifteen-minute drive from Spring Run, a premier trout fishery. Guests can also enjoy kayaking and fishing on the Cowpasture, Bullpasture and Jackson Rivers, or play a round of golf at the Homestead.

Prepare gourmet meals for a crowd in the spacious, well-equipped kitchen, with its granite counter tops, stainless steel appliances, butlers pantry and dining table with seating for eight. Afterward, guests can gather in one of the two living rooms or den, and take in a movie on the flat-screen TV . The home also has a formal living room in which to gather, with doors that open to the porch.

Guests can retire for the night in one of five bedrooms. The first floor features a master king-sized bedroom, with a walk-in closet and en-suite bathroom. The second bedroom has a queen bed. There is a full bathroom off of the dining area on this floor. The second floor offers another queen bedroom, as well as a second bedroom with two full size beds. Finally, the last bedroom includes a queen bed as well as office space. The full bathroom on this floor is en-suite in this room.

Enjoy stunning views of the surrounding hills and pastures from the homes porch, with its seating for four and a barbecue grill. There is also an additional outside seating area with two wicker chaise lounges and four deck chairs and a fire-pit, with views that are equally as stunning.
