Villa Belle Etoile

5 5 10

There's a beautiful new star on the island of St. Barth, and its name is Villa Belle Etoile. Recently completed, the luxury rental property is distinguished by its modern and stylish aesthetic. The look is handsome and attractive enough to be easily admired without being at all cold or off-putting. This is a vacation house where you can your friends can kick off your shoes and let down your sandy hair.

One of the best features of Villa Belle Etoile is its spectacular view. The heated, 28-meter infinity pool - one of the longest on the island - is a superb place to enjoy it, but it's on full display from the bedrooms and living area as well. But while all the rooms have that sea view, the windows on the other side open to something lovely as well: a long stretch of tropical vegetation that creates a very relaxing backdrop.

The gracious, adaptable layout of Villa Belle Etoile makes it very easy to share. The rooms are separated enough from one another to grant each guest a feeling of privacy, but the common gathering spaces are large and convivial enough to accommodate a large group reminiscing over old memories.

The master bedroom occupies its own bungalow apart from the main house. It has a European king-size bed, a private bathroom that has a distinctive bathtub, and its own special outdoor area. In the main house, on left side of the living area, the other four bedrooms all have king beds and ensuite bathrooms with rain showers. In each, the decor is striking, with black shutters against white walls and dramatic cube-shaped four-poster beds. Their entertainment and technology offerings are state of the art.

The shared living area is distinguished by clean lines and a modern sensibility with a sense of Caribbean heritage. The decorative corals are by Christian Liaigre. The indoor area unspools onto the sundeck, where a hanging daybed beckons for you to while away lazy afternoons. An indoor dining area defines the separation between the sitting area and the large chef's kitchen, which, like the separate fitness room, is perfectly equipped for you to get the job done.

The villa comes with nightly turndown and daily breakfast during the High and Holiday Seasons.
