The feel of Villa Caro is easy, breezy, and effortless. The newly built luxury rental property in Lurin was created with the idea of a seamless transition between the outdoor world and the one inside. Glass walls can be retracted to be completely open, other doors are made of louvered wood in soft natural tones, and a sleek design highlights the beauty of nature. With understated furniture from a high-end designers, it is a place to take pleasure in the best things in life - especially those that can be found outdoors.

At the same time, Villa Caro has a certain playfulness and feeling of easy living throughout. Among all the luxurious finishes and warm-toned wood, there are free-spirited surprises, such as an office (for those who must attend to the world outside) hidden behind a wall of wooden panels in the main room.

The fully outdoor parts of Villa Caro include a terrace with a heated infinity pool, a gazebo above the water where guests can splash while protected from the sun, lounge chairs in the sun, and a dining area with a table for ten people in the shade.

The layout makes it easy for groups to share. Everyone can find their privacy in comfortable quarters, and then come together around the pool, air-conditioned living area and kitchen.

All five of the sleeping quarters have high-quality furnishings and features and ensuite bathrooms. Three of them are situated in the front, one to the left of the living area and two to the right. The other two bedrooms occupy separate bungalows and have garden views. The ones in the main house have king-size beds, and the ones in their own bungalows have twins that can be made up as kings.

The wooden shutters all around create a nice tropical feeling. They let the outside in and fill the rooms with light, but at the same time they create privacy.
