Villa Valentina

🛏️ 4 🚿 4 👥 8

Minimalist luxury and integration are the hallmarks of the entirely rebuilt Villa Valentina. Throughout the luxury rental property in Pointe Milou, you can find exceptionally fine craftsmanship and top-quality furnishings and appliances. Villa Valentina has an understated way of making each day of a St. Barth vacation more pleasurable than the one before.

The four-bedroom holiday house has sweeping views of the Atlantic to the east and is bathed in sunlight all day. That warm glow is a striking counterpoint to the modern and high-end design and fittings. Outside the entrance, there is a juxtaposition of large and smooth concrete steps and appealingly lush landscaping and greenery.

The owner of Villa Valentina paid great attention to every detail of the significant early-2020 renovation, from the custom wood furniture, white vertical paneling, a circular dining table that seats 16 people and has a rotating center, Tom Dixon lamps glowing in pairs in the bathrooms. There are blackened-steel finishes throughout the house custom-built closets, and an 80-foot-long gray granite swimming pool made for sunbathing, laps, and play.

The villa comprises four identical master bedrooms with ensuite bathrooms, making it ideal for groups of friends of adult families to share. It also includes one children's room with six beds with its own bathroom, and a staff room with two beds, also with its own bathroom.

The home is made for entertaining, with its open layout and grand living room with double-height ceilings. This room is divided evenly between the dining area and the lounge area, and it is equipped with a Sonos sound system and air-conditioning. There are two kitchens, one for everyday use and the other for a private chef or catering, with a total of four refrigerators and two dishwashers.

At the end of the heated swimming pool, there is an open-air yoga gazebo, which also has TXR training equipment and a boxing bag. There is no treadmill, though the rolling hills of Pointe Milou are right there for you to enjoy your cardio.
