Villa W View

🛏️ 4 🚿 4 👥 8

Among the many luxuries to be discovered at Villa W View is the abundance of light and space. The rooms of this vacation rental home are gracefully, generously proportioned, with large amounts of floor space, an open-plan design, high ceilings and wide walls of windows. The feeling they create is one of being at peace with nature, part of a glorious ecosystem of sea and sky, sunsets and stars. The ample living quarters are laid out in an intelligent fashion that allows for plenty of quality togetherness - without ever stepping on one another's toes - and for some serious privacy. And at every turn, there are stellar views of the crashing waves of the Caribbean as the lap the shore of St. Jean Bay, far, far below, and seemingly a world away.

With two master bedrooms, one in its own building and one on its own level, and two guest bedrooms, Villa W View has a versatile layout that makes it well suited to couples traveling together, or to families with children. Recently renovated, the property has a wonderfully understated, traditional St. Barth aesthetic, with weathered wood floors and seas of white for the walls, ceilings, tables, counters and sectional sofas, forming a backdrop that's free of distractions from the loved ones you're with.

That said, it's the outdoor areas that are the show-stoppers here: a wraparound terrace that seems to go on forever, a shaded area with a dining table that seats eight, an outdoor kitchen, abundant chaises perfectly positioned for sunbathing, and a magnificent infinity-edge swimming pool. There's hardly any reason to go inside.

Inside the main building are the living and indoor dining areas, as well as the large kitchen, which is open to the rest of the rooms and ultimately, to the terrace. The master suite occupies its own bungalow nearby, and has ocean views from its king-size bed, bathroom window, and indoor and outdoor showers.

The other three bedrooms are in their own two-story building, on the other side of the main house. Downstairs, there's the second master suite, which is similar in size to the first and has a king-size bed, desk, seating and ensuite bathroom. Also on this level are the villa's small fitness room and home cinema. Upstairs in this building are the two guest bedrooms, one with a king bed and the other with two twins that can be made into a king, and each with an ensuite bathroom.
